

‘Design is needed for better cities’ — of how small-scale design interventions impact the larger picture and can help in eradicating problems which are in our city.

What is it?

I think my city Delhi is full of everything except that here people tend to be self-centred and there are not enough public places to understand each other as they do have in England. In a city like Delhi, where crime is already rampant, the future currently doesn't look that bright so for this I want to connect Delhi ones to connect with themselves and city in outer of Delhi.
